Hi Team,

We just wanted to take some time at Artflute to express gratitude for the support we've received in our engagement with Terralogic (and Codebele before) over the last few years and especially the last 2 months in particular.

The festive period is a particularly important period for e-commerce businesses like ours and we've had incredible support from Saguftha, Wasim, and Thirumala who have worked closely with the project. This is right from creating simple improvements to new features for time-bound sales. We're very grateful for the commitment everyone involved in our project showed towards ensuring all the tasks were closed on time (at odd hours sometimes) and for making time even when they weren't fully available. And I'm also sure Rajesh, Mamta have been working in the background ensuring that resources are made available to ensure the timelines were on track.

At Artflute, we're working towards a vision of making art accessible online and our website is the most important aspect of it. While we are quite far away from our desired state, we've liked the direction the website has been taking over the last few years.

We do hope to continue the good work in the future :)

Cheers,
Bennet Praveen Doss,
